

dotted

A light gray rectangular area with a dotted orange border. The border consists of small orange dots spaced evenly along the top, bottom, and left edges. The right edge is also dotted but less visible due to the gray background.

double

A light gray rectangular area with a double orange border. The border consists of two parallel orange lines, one on the top and one on the bottom, with the left and right edges also having double lines.

groove

A light gray rectangular area with a thick orange border. The border is a single, solid orange line that is noticeably thicker than the others, framing the gray area on all four sides.

ridge

A light gray rectangular area with a thick orange border. The border is a single, solid orange line that is noticeably thicker than the others, framing the gray area on all four sides.

inset

outset