

Select me to see normal behavior. Try selecting me for a different text color. You can select me for a different background color. You can also select me for a different background. Guess what... you can select me for a different background color and text color. How about a text-shadow? Sure, select me for a different text-shadow. What about nest elements? Select me for a different background color. And this sentence is just a color selection. Nesting works! Inputs work!* Textarea, too!* *not Safari