Select me to see normal behavior.

Try selecting me for a different text color.

You can select me for a different background color.

You can also select me for a different background.

Guess what... you can select me for a different background color and text color.

How about a text-shadow? Sure, select me for a different text-shadow.

What about nest elements? Select me for a different background color.
And this sentence is just a color selection.
Nesting works!

Textarea, too!*

*not Safari